FACTS IN FEW LINES

Cotton is the principal line of manufacture in Mexico.

It is said that 1,500 Greeks arrive at New York each month.

This year Tasmania will export 1,500,000 bushel cases of apples. Most of them will go to England and Australia.

The exports of Australia in 1904 were $280,042,056, an increase of $38,195,636 over those of 1901, the banner year previously.

Professor John C. Olsen of the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute reports 4,000,000 bacteria in one sample of milk bought in Brooklyn.

Japan has one of the largest steamship companies in the world, with service to the United States and to England by way of Suez.

The house of the Capulets, where Juliet lived in Verona, has been offered for sale and the municipality intends to buy it and convert it into a museum.

The London Academy tells of an old woman who walked into a shop and asked to buy a "circulating library." Inquiry revealed that she wanted a revolving bookcase.

The first bullfight in Madrid after the repeal of the Sunday law was witnessed by 20,000 persons, and 80,000 more waited outside the ring to get prompt news of the result.

So fashionable is appendicitis in British society circles that, says London Opinion, many women would rather have it "than a three-quarter length photograph in a magazine."

An institute for the treatment of sufferers from chest complaints, neuralgia, catarrh and other maladies by means of opium smoking has been opened by London physicians.

The Hawaiian legislature has passed over the governor's veto a law allowing baseball and similar amusements on Sunday and permitting cigar and many other stores to remain open on that day.

The superior board of health of Mexico informs dealers in food products, especially milk dealers, that the use of preservatives in food is prohibited and punishable by the board as food adulteration.

A recently discovered manuscript written by a schoolmate indicates that Napoleon I. knew so little of the French language when he was sent to the military school at Brienne that a private teacher was engaged for him.

A psalter which belonged to Boswell was sold at Sotheby's, in London, recently for £15. It contained the inscription: "James Boswell, 1763. I bought this for 2d at Greenwich, when I was working there with Mr. Samuel Johnson."

The value of shells, tortoise and others, gathered in Cuba last year amounted to about $75,000 and of sponges $500,000. Of the latter the United States received about 35 per cent and Europe the remainder, France being the principal buyer.

Dr. A. D. Nash of Townshend, Vt., has a pair of shears which were handed down from his great-grandfather. They were made by a blacksmith and used in the war of 1812 to cut the hair of soldiers. They are much larger and heavier than those in use nowadays.

Captain Freeman H. Murray of Lynn has an old cent which he found some years ago while digging in his garden. It is an Irish coin, dated 1723. On its face it bears the likeness of King George I., while on the reverse side Hibernia is seen with her harp and distaff.

Sam White of Riverside, Cal., has a boy born on Feb. 20, and in addition has one who was born on Washington's birthday, one on inauguration day and two on All Fools day, April 1; one on Thanksgiving day and one on Feb. 2, ground hog day; also three more boys born on other dates.

Golf is greatly indulged in by the naval officers and European residents in China. In consequence the Chinese boys have grasped some idea of the game, and they are frequently seen amusing themselves with an old stick converted into a club and a real golf ball which some golfer has lost.

A hotel which cost the builder $13,000 six years ago at Kettle Falls, Wash., has been sold for $200, and a number of town lots were sold at from 5 cents to $25 each. The sale was made by the county commissioners on foreclosure for delinquent taxes and marked the end of a boom town.

Thomaston, Me., is probably one of the towns that will not be asking for a new depot. The one there is the old General Knox mansion, 112 years old, and is the only building left of the once great Knox estate. For that reason it is a memorial that the town will probably be glad to have preserved.

A bell has been imported by the Swedish Lutheran church at New Britain, Conn. The bell is inscribed as follows: "Maria Swedish Evangelical Lutheran church, New Britain, Conn., from the congregation's Sunday school. The first Swedish church bell in America, cast in the year 1905 at Gothenburg, mechanical factory in Sweden. Bell weight 1,120 kilograms."

London will soon put on its streets a motor street cleaning machine that will do the work of 500 men. It operates rakes for caked mud, "squeegees" for wet weather, a revolving brush and a set of overlapping scrapers to complete the cleaning operation. All the refuse goes into a box. It works at the rate of eight miles an hour.

The most voluminous report ever filed with the United States supreme court is that of Frank S. Bright, commissioner appointed to take testimony in the suit instituted by Missouri to enjoin Illinois from emptying the Chicago drainage canal into the Mississippi river. The report contains 4,480,000 words and covers 7,975 pages.

A Roumanian Custom.

A strange custom is still observed in Roumania which reminds one strongly of Robinson Crusoe. When a servant has displeased his or her master the offender takes his boots in his hands and places them before the bedroom door of his master. It is a sign of great submission, and the boots are either kicked away as an intimation that the fault will not be forgiven or else the servant is told to place them on his feet, which shows that he is forgiven

NEW SHORT STORIES

An Effective Retort.

Judge Emory Speer, who presides over the United States circuit and district courts for the southern district of Georgia, is the possessor of a nimble and facile wit, says the Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post. In earlier days, before he had attained the ermine, Judge Speer was a politician and a power on the stump.

Shortly after reconstruction he ran against Allen D. Candler for congress. Speer was a Republican, and his politics sufficed to bring him unpopularity among a large majority of the white population. It was his wit, his good humor and his unfailing courage that carried him through the campaign without a serious difference and finally brought him to victory.

On one occasion when the young candidate was addressing a very Democratic and hostile audience a brawny countryman was observed fighting his way through the crowd to the speaker's rostrum. It was evident that he had spent the preceding night with John Barleycorn, for his clothes were rumpled, his hair disheveled and his face of a fiery red that rivaled the noonday sun in brilliancy. Shaking a belligerent fist under the nose of the orator, he exclaimed:

"SIR, YOU ARE A DEMAGOGUE!"

"Sir, you are a demagogue!"

The crowd howled, but Speer was not disturbed. He waited for the noise to subside and then, with a smile and in a tone of entire good humor, rejoined:

"And you, sir, if you would wrap a few wisps of straw about you, would be a demijohn."

The delighted audience roared with appreciative laughter, and the discomfited patriot slunk away. It is said that in no voting precinct of the district was Speer's majority larger than that in which this happy retort was made.

Said In Washington.

At one of the recent White House receptions there was a little case of rapier thrusting between two ladies, and it was delightfully entertaining to those who saw and heard.

There is a famous man in Washington, one who came from the plain people and who continues as one of them. He has a beautiful daughter of aristocratic tendencies who has dug up a family tree somehow or other and who affects superiority which she does not possess in any sense.

The wife of a congressman from a western state was introduced to the young lady and pleasantly said:

"I have met with your distinguished father, Miss ——."

"I dare say," replied the young lady languidly. "Papa in his position meets all sorts of people."

The western lady flushed and flashed back instantly, "I should suppose so, especially when he is at home."—Lippincott's.

The Dominie's Mare.

Senator Deboe of Kentucky tells an interesting story concerning a schoolteacher in his state who was also a preacher, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. He loved horses and dogs, and he was the owner of a trotter with a good record for speed. One Friday afternoon before dismissing the school he addressed the boys thus:

"Now, boys, I suppose you all know that there will be some horse racing tomorrow. Now, don't you go to the races. The track is no place for boys. But, boys, if you do go to the races don't you do any betting. It is not right to wager money on horses. But, boys, if you do go and if you do bet—mind what I tell you—bet on Deacon Abernathy's mare. This is a straight tip."

And the mare won too. She was the old preacher-schoolteacher's thoroughbred under another name.

Fitz-Hugh Lee's Sense of Humor.

"The lamented Fitz-Hugh Lee had a good sense of humor," remarked his warm personal friend, General Jack Hayes, at the Shoreham.

"When General Lee, a few weeks prior to his death, as president of the Jamestown Exposition association, got a telegram from Governor Pennypacker of Pennsylvania that the legislature of that state had made a generous appropriation to that enterprise General Lee wired him back as follows:

"'Sincere thanks. I solemnly promise never more to draw my sword on the soil of Pennsylvania except in its defense.'"—Washington Post.

Horse Sense.

"Now, he's got what I really call 'horse sense.'"

"How, for instance?"

"He never bets on one."—Philadelphia Press.

His New Vocation.

"John's home from college?"

"Yes."

"What's he goin' to do now?"

"Well, 'twixt you an' me I think he's jest about decided to loaf around an' be one o' these here incomprehensible geniuses!"—Atlanta Constitution.

CHOICE MISCELLANY

Cuckoos' Eggs.

Mr. Hart of Christchurch, Hampshire, who has made a lifelong study of British birds, has in his fascinating collection a large number of cuckoos' eggs, each in the nest and with the clutch in which they were deposited, and in almost every case the intruder's egg is an exact imitation of the rightful eggs, only a size larger. Mr. Hart is convinced that the female cuckoo inspects the eggs in the nest she has chosen before laying her own egg and that her retinal impression affects the coloration of the egg. In one instance the cuckoo chose the nest of a small bird, the name of which I have forgotten, whose nest was a closely woven ball with a tiny hole for entrance. In this case the alien egg was pure white, the cuckoo being unable to see into the bottom of the nest and her mind on the subject being therefore a blank. The plumage of the adult cuckoo is very much like that of hawks, while the young are indefinitely speckled and blurred, the supposed reason being that no small bird would dare to feed what it took to be a young hawk in its nest. So the cuckoo has still another charge of mean duplicity against it in addition to the familiar ones.—London Outlook.

Wealth of an Indian Rajah.

It is believed that Sayaji Roo, the rajah of Baroda, is the possessor of wealth equal if not superior to that of John D. Rockefeller. He was educated in an English university, and his people are well governed. Much of his vast riches is in the form of precious stones. His wife owns the most famous diamond necklace in the world. It is made up of 200 stones, each the size of a hazelnut. She also has a collaret of 500 perfect diamonds, none less than twenty carats. In the treasure chamber is a carpet four square yards in surface made up entirely of ropes of diamonds, pearls and rubies. It required $4,000,000 worth of gems and three years of labor. The long corridors of the palace are lined with marbles and onyx of incalculable value. The palace is steam heated, and electric elevators are placed at frequent intervals. Bronzes, paintings, statuary, all imported and worth many millions of dollars, are scattered throughout the royal dwelling.

Forcing Spiders to Spin.

Certain green ants in Queensland, which also make their nests of leaves and flowers spun together, are said to keep spiders to spin for them. Whether these latter do it spontaneously or require to be held as the larvae of the other species does not seem to have been determined. In the devices of these ants there is surely one of nature's hints to human inventors. Since the days of the spider artist in the University of Lagado, spider silk has been a dream. The difficulty of its realization has been chiefly the pugnacious nature of the spider, which prevents their being kept together. But a machine has been invented which seems to overcome the difficulty. It is described as a sort of frame containing twenty-four miniature guillotines, the blunt knives of which descend on the waists of the spiders and hold them fast. A number of the threads are secured together on a hook and slowly drawn out.—London Globe.

Demands on a Postoffice.

The postoffice at Chester, Pa., is regarded by some people as an accommodation bureau. One man last week asked for a letter carrier's pouch, saying he wanted it for a game bag, while another could not comprehend why he should be refused the use of the night collector's horse and wagon. A day or two ago Postmaster John A. Wallace was called from his private office into the corridor of the building and was confronted by a strange woman, who asked for the loan of 50 cents. "But why do you come to me for such a favor?" asked the surprised official. "Why don't you see some of your friends? You are an entire stranger to me." "That may be," replied the caller, with rare naivete, "but I came to see you because I'm a regular customer of this office." This was too much for the postmaster, who reached into his pocket for the half dollar.—Philadelphia Record.

Unloading Coal Cars In Cleveland.

The gondolas are brought direct to the coal dock and are then hoisted to a great height, trucks and all, the giant crane first lifting the heavy car to the proper position and then quickly turning it over, as a mother turns over her small boy for a spanking. The coal is instantly dropped into the hold of the waiting vessel, the car returned to the rails and sent to the ore dock to be filled with Lake Superior iron.

These unloaders, under ordinary conditions, can unload 500 cars of coal every day. The No. 1 machine handled the biggest tonnage of coal of any machine on the great lakes during the season of 1903. The coal was transferred at an average cost of 4 cents a ton, including the cost of maintenance and depreciation of the plant.—Erie Railroad Employees' Magazine.

"Ragging" In the British Army.

A recent case of "ragging" on board the British cruiser Kent has been promptly followed by the supersession of Captain Douglas A. Gamble, her commander, who has been compulsorily retired on half pay for allowing such an occurrence on his ship, and by the punishment of others concerned in the affair. The "ragging" occurred in the gun room, where the midshipmen attempted to strip and flog an unpopular comrade. The latter promptly drew a revolver and shot one of the midshipmen in the mouth. The admiralty announces that it is determined to put down "ragging."

Shattered Ideal.

"Paw, what does it mean where it says here that the girl's ideal was shattered?"

"Why, it means she found that she could marry a wealthier man."—Detroit Tribune.

On Other Nights.

Mr. Goodthing—How does your sister like the engagement ring I gave her, Bobby? Her Young Brother—Well, it's a little too small. She has an awful hard time getting it off when the other fellows call!—Exchange.

ELEPHANTS LUMBERING.

They Were Not Only Doing Man's Work, but Doing It Man's Way.

The elephants round us were dragging the logs to the mill to be sawed. They were harnessed for this with a broad breast band and heavy chains. A native looped the chains round the logs, and the elephant started off with them and deposited them on the trolley. Others were picking up the sawed planks with their trunks and carrying them across the yard to be piled.

A mahout sat on the neck of every elephant, and if the animal picked up too small a plank the mahout would hint, with his iron spike, that two might go to that load. Then, grunting, the elephant would pick up the second with infinite delicacy of balance, turn, march over and deposit them beside the pile, always returning for another load so long as there were any planks ready. When there were none he would take his ease in the sun and wait, or perhaps there were heavy logs to be pushed from one place to another, and if pushing would do, with his trunk curled against the log, no elephant would give himself the trouble of picking it up any more than a housemaid will pick up a chair on casters.

More fascinating it was than I can tell to see the jungle patriarch kneel down to a heavy log, twist his trunk round it, place it on the top of the pile and then calculate its position and push and pull until it was square in its place. The oddest because the most reasonable thing was to see the elephant, pushing against the end of a very heavy log, stretch out one hind leg to give himself balance and purchase. That seemed to bring him somehow very near to us. He was not only doing our work, but he was doing it in our way.

Presently, with one accord, all the elephants dropped work and moved in the direction of the sheds.

"That means it's 11 o'clock," said the foreman; "dinner hour. Not for himself could we get them to do a stroke of work from now till 3. It's their off time. At 3 they begin again and work till dusk, and they start about 6 in the morning, but they don't understand overtime."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"Smart" London Manners.

A fashionable crowd is almost invariably bad tempered. People jostle each other vindictively and preserve a stony, icy glare the whole time. A man at a dance seeking his partner in the crush will not hesitate to push past women in a way that would probably shock his barbarian ancestors.

CREAMERY PROJECT

A number of business men and dairymen held an informal meeting in the Pavilion last Friday evening to consider the establishing in Sonoma of a modern creamery.

Several plans were discussed and it seemed to be the sense of the meeting that a stock company should be formed and that is probably what will be done.

Mr. C. E. Wing, an experienced creamery man, was present and made many valuable suggestions.

A creamery here would be a welcome and valued addition to our many prosperous new enterprises and it should meet with the hearty support of our people.

Another meeting will be held at an early date to perfect plans under consideration, as all the dairymen here are satisfied that a creamery would be a paying proposition.

The Expositor has all along advocated the building of a creamery plant here and we note with pride the progress so far made towards the starting of the new enterprise.

NEW RAILROAD PROJECT

Sonoma and Marin Counties have been placarded with large posters announcing a great railroad meeting to be held in the town hall of Tomales, for the purpose of considering the building of a railroad along the ocean beach of two counties with branches into the interior. Fred Woodworth, a prominent lawyer of San Francisco hae issued the call for the meeting which will be held in Tomales tomorrow.

SEBASTOPOL FIRE

The town of Sebastopol was again visited by a disastrous blaze last Monday night.

The fire broke out about midnight in a shed in the rear of the bakery and soon spread to the fine new brick block owned by H. M. Forsyth of Santa Rosa. The building had just been completed and cost $20,000, the Tel. Co's loss is $2000, Worth's Drug store $10,000, Jacksons Bakery and Grocery, $3,500. Robnison & Co's millinery, $2500. The total loss will figure up about $36,000 with little insurance.

This is necessary in order that the Native Sons may improve the old structure and keep it from falling dowu this winter as it surely will do if something is not done before that time.

FIRE AT HARRIS HOME

About 3 o'clock Monday after noon an alarm of fire startled the people of Sonoma. The Sonoma Volunteer Fire Co. responded with alacrity, hurring to the Harris home on Broadway and found a long three room shed at the rear residence a mass of flames.

A crowd had also gathered to assist the fire fighters and in an almost incredibly short time the flames were under control.

The presence of mind of Mrs. L. H. Green, who heard the cry of fire and phoned the alarm to town, saved a few precious moments that enabled the fire company to prevent what might have been a far more serious conflagration.

The three-room building and contents were totally destroyed entailing a loss of about $500.

The domestic employed by Mr. Harris lost all her personal effects together with over $70 in money.

The residence and barn caught fire but were quickly extinguished.

The cause of the fire is a mystery as no fire had been started in the building for some days. Both Mr. and Mrs. Harris were away from home and the remaining members were out in the front garden when the fire started. Considerable headway was gained before the flames were discovered.

It was a narrow escape. Luckily no wind was blowing at the time. The fire company came in for a good share of praise for the excellent work they did.

Improvements at the Home

Excavation work is under way at Eldridge Home for the Feeble Minded for the construction of an auxiliary reservoir with a capacity of 420,000 gallons. The reservoir will be built adjoining the site of the present one and will furnish a plentiful supply of water for fire fighting facilities and for irrigation in the gardens when necessary. It does not take the place of the old reservoir but will be connected with it. The expense was provided for by an appropriation made by the recent legislature.

Work on the hospital and cottages is also progressing well and before long a good deal of the work will be completed. A number of other improvements are being carried out from time to time on the fine estate the state owns at Eldridge. A dormitory for the female attendants is also to be built.

Card of Thanks

We desire to express our thanks to the Sonoma Volunteer Fire Co. and to the many kind friends and neighbors who generously gave their assistance at the fire which threatened our home with total destruction Monday July 16 last.

We shall ever remember with gratefulness that it was the prompt and heroic efforts of the friends and firemen that saved our home and contents from the flames.

HIGH CLASS INSTITUTION

Of all the business colleges in the West there is none better than Santa Rosa Business College located at Santa Rosa, California. Prof. J. S. Sweet, the President of the college, is one of the leading educators and thinkers of the Pacific Coast. He had many years of successful experience in grammar, high and normal school work before founding this institution at the county seat, nearly fourteen years ago. From a small beginning the Santa Rosa Business College has by honest work and good results built itself up to the present large proportions and stands high in public estimation. A diploma of graduation from Santa Rosa Business College is a recommendation that means something and starts every young lady or gentleman on a successful business career.

Last year one hundred and fifty students, mainly from California but many from other parts of the Union, enrolled themselves in the Santa Rosa Business College.

Hundreds of its graduates are now holding responsible positions in this and other states in the Union.

When Sonoma County has a business college of international reputation and gives a better education than any similar institution elsewhere, common sense as well as one's own best interests demands that the home institution should have the preference.

Gentlemen—I have had rheumatism for years, was compelled to remain in bed for weeks at a time, could not move my limbs or arms, have tried many Springs, and in fact have tried everything, without success, until I came across Calsal thro a friend of mine that had been cured by carrying the same. I purchased two sacks and wore them as directed, nearest the pain, and I must say after wearing the sacks for one week I felt better, and now I am absolutely cured, have no pain whatsoever. I believe Calsal is the greatest cure for rheumatism. I would not be without it.

WOMEN DREAD

The disfiguration caused by skin disease, even more than the tormenting irritation which is so commonly associated with it. The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery generally results in a complete cure of eczema, pimples, eruptions and other forms of disease which have their cause in an impure condition of the blood. "Golden Medical Discovery" absolutely purges the blood of humors and poisons, and so cures the cutaneous diseases which bad blood breeds and feeds.

There is no alcohol in the "Golden Medical Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

An unfailing cure of all diseases that have their origin in disorders of the digestion and faulty nutrition is found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures digestive disorders, restores the appetite, invigorates the liver, purifies and enriches the blood, builds healthy flesh and muscle and drives out disease-germs. It cures all cases of incipient consumption. Thousands have testified to these facts. Druggists who suggest substitutes are not honest.

"About a year ago I was ill with blood poisoning," writes Miss Eveline Louis, of 89 Walter Street, Buffalo, N. Y. "I had what seemed to be a small cold sore on my lip. It became very angry in appearance and began to spread until it nearly covered my face. I was a frightful sight and could not go outside the house because of my appearance. I used a blood medicine which did not give me any relief. Then I began to take your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I was greatly benefited with the first bottle and after taking the second bottle was completely cured. The erysipelatous eruption disappeared and my blood was cleansed. My complexion is clear and fresh and I have felt better this year than I did for some time before. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is certainly a most remarkable medicine."

"I am glad to write my endorsement of your wonderful remedy, the 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. Laura R. McIntire, of Lyles, Lancaster Co., Pa. "I was troubled with eczema for over a year and after trying two of the best physicians I wrote to Dr. Pierce for his advice. He advised me to take 'Golden Medical Discovery' and bathe with Packer's Tar Soap. I did so, and after using two bottles of the 'Discovery' and two cakes of the soap I was entirely cured. Any one suffering with eczema need not hesitate in giving your medicine a trial."

"It's about two months since I stopped using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes J. M. Venters, Esq., of Regina, Pike Co., Ky. "I stayed down in Texas last year and contracted chills and fever while there. I came back to Kentucky and was about shaking my boots off from my feet when I commenced using it. I only weighed 149 pounds. Had been suffering with chills and fever for twelve months. Took treatment from my doctor and tried many different kinds of patent medicines, and all seemed to do no good. Since I have used four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and one vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, I feel well in every respect and weigh 186 pounds instead of only 149, my weight when I began its use."

Pierce's Pleasant Pellets

The Original LITTLE LIVER PILLS, first put up by old Dr. R. V. Pierce over 40 years ago. Much imitated, but never equaled. Little pill, Little dose, but give great results in a curative way in all derangements of Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Dr. Pierce's wonderful free book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," will be sent paper-bound, for twenty-one cents in one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. LETTER FROM GLEN ELLEN Truly, misfortunes sometimes prove "blessings in disguise." From what I learn about the improvements contemplated in our town, I am inclined to think this old adage is about to be exemplified. The recent fire seems to have aroused all the latent energy of our citizens.

I understand that work begins immediately at the stone quarry, preparing material for a fine dwelling and store for our enterprising merchant, Mr. C. J. Poppe, and next week the foundations will be laid. I hear also that Mr. Chauvet intends erecting several up-to-date dwellings—a much needed addition to this place. A number of other improvements are being discussed and I venture to prophesy that before another year rolls around, Glen Ellen will arise "Phoenix"-like from her baptism of fire and show the progressive spirit within her.

The place is at present crowded with summer visitors, and still they come.

At a recent meeting of the Woman's Improvement Club, a motion was made and carried, that we purchase a hand pump and hose for the protection of our town. Mrs. Carroll Cook has generously promised us a donation of $25, and I feel sure there are many interested citizens who will assist the good cause. In order to afford them an opportunity of doing so, the Woman's amprovement Club will give a dance on August 4th. We hope our friends and sympathizers will not be backward in coming forward.

ALPHA

GARDEN PARTY

A garden party and social will be given at Agua Caliente Springs Hotel on Saturday evening Aug. 5th next. A fine program has been planned. Those who attend are assured of a delightful evening of pleasure. Mr. and Mrs. Richards' fame as entertainers is a guarantee that a royal good time is in store for every body.

The proceeds will be for the benefit of St. Mary's Church, Glen Ellen.

IN JUSTICE COURT

The preliminary hearing of the case of People vs. N. Tomasi, was heard before Justice Small Monday afternoon.

Defendant is charged with assault with a deadly weapon for using a club on a ranch hand some time ago.

The victim received a hard beating which defendant says was done in self defense.

District Attorney Pond assisted by Attorney Sprague, conducted the prosecution while Clarence F. Lea represented the defendant.

Defendant was held under $500 bonds to appear before the Superior Court.

BUSINESS CHANGE

N. Codiga has sold out his interest in the Sonoma House to John Delucchi and Attilio Galardoni, who will conduct the same as a hotel and restaurant. Mr. Delucchi has the reputation as a first-class chef and Mr. Galardoni is an experienced business man. The new firm will make many changes and improvements and will no doubt get a good share of public patronage.

MIANCHI VS. NICOLINI

Twelve hundred dollars in gold coin was paid to the county clerk on Tuesday to be used in settlement of a note and interest involved in the above entitled action in the Superior Court.

The Prevalence of Bright's Disease.

The census shows that the annual deaths from Bright's disease have increased appallingly as follows:

1870	1,722 deaths
1880	5,385 "
1890	22,330 "
1900	58,748 "

The reason that there were no deaths reported from Bright's Disease before 1870 is, that the deaths were believed to be due to kidney trouble and were so reported.

The plain truth is, that common ailment known to people as kidney trouble is now recognized as Bright's Disease; thus its great prevalence and growing list is explained.

THE EYESIGHT

Mutiny and Piracy

By CLARA TAYLOR

Copyright, 1905, by T. C. McClure

Aunt Hannah Snow, wife of Captain Jabez Snow of Kennebunk, was almost as good a sailor as her husband. She had gone with him to the West Indies on seven voyages and had acted as mate and second mate. She could mend a sail, steer her trick, make or take in sail and use a quadrant as well as any one, or at least as well as any mate that ever sailed with the Hannah Snow, as the brig was named. Captain Snow ran between Boston and the West India islands, and the shippers of Boston came to know his wife and the way she could discipline a crew and handle the craft.

On a certain date the brig was loading in Boston for a quick market. Extra help was put on to get the cargo aboard, and Captain Jabez signed a bond to get that cargo to its destination within a certain number of days, barring hurricanes, waterspouts and other acts of Providence. The bond had not been signed more than an hour when he broke his leg. Nothing was surer than that he could not carry out his agreement, and a great financial loss as well as many weeks of vexatious delay stared the couple in the face. They must either find a captain to take charge of the brig or forfeit the charter and pay a good round sum, and Captain Jabez was wondering if a man could be found when his wife broke in on him.

"Jabez, you have broke your leg, and I don't want to be cross with you, but you seem to forgit that I am still on earth."

"No, I don't," he replied, "but I don't see what you can do in this case except to git me back home and nurse me."

"Well, I see where I can do something else, and I'm goin' to do it too. I'm goin' to take the Hannah to the West Indies and back and save our charter."

"Have you lost your senses?"

"Not a bit of it. If I couldn't make that voyage I wouldn't be worth my salt. I know all the crew, and I'll have Bill Henderson for mate. We'll slip down there and be back ag'in before your leg has begun to knit. There needn't be any more talk about finding a captain."

When Captain Jabez thought the matter over he was inclined to think that his wife could do all she said, but the consignees had to be consulted. When Aunt Hannah went to them and stated the case they did not raise a single objection, and it was settled that she was to be Captain Hannah Snow for the voyage. It was only after the brig had left port that the mate's meanness came to the surface. He had sailed with the craft on several voyages and was a neighbor of the Snows' at home. When the accident happened to Captain Jabez the mate naturally hoped to get command for the voyage. He would have been distressed if any other captain had come aboard, but to be walked over by a woman, even though she was the captain's wife and a neighbor, was too much.

Aunt Hannah saw that he was in the sulks. "Look here, Bill Henderson," she said, "it won't do you the least mite of good to go on biting your tongue over this. I can captain this brig as well as Jabez, and I'm going to take her out and back."

"You'll have her at the bottom before we strike the gulf stream," he replied.

"You never mind where I'll have her, but 'tend to your knitting. We are to crack on and make the best time we can."

A day later she found the mate carrying too little sail, and an argument ensued. Later on she came on deck from her watch below to find him chumming with the men. Two or three other things happened to put her out of temper, and she exercised the privilege of a captain by "breaking" the mate and sending him to the fo'castle. When she would replace him with the next best man, the sailor refused to take the place. The crew was with the mate. Aunt Hannah expressed her mind freely, and as a consequence the crew refused to obey. The brig was brought to the wind, sail taken off, and the woman was laughed at. She was told that not a man would do duty until the mate was reinstated.

"Then it's mutiny, is it?" she replied. "Very well. I'll let you know that you've got the wrong pig by the ear. I'll lose brig, cargo and everything else in the world before I'll give in."

For a day and a night the brig made no progress, and as the weather was fair she incurred no danger.

The crew saw that the woman did not intend to give in, and it angered them. There was one among them who had read dozens of pirate books and always longed to sail under the black flag. Things had never come right for him before, but now he took advantage of the temper of the others to broach the subject. He was a good talker, and he held out such an alluring picture that even the mate, who was above the average man in intelligence, agreed to go into the pirate business with the others. This decision was communicated to Captain Hannah, who was wandering about unconcernedly.

"Waal, Bill, that's all right," she retorted. "There's a rum and sugar loaded bark comin' our way, and you might begin on her. I've got a black shawl which I'll give you for a flag, and you just lay to, board that bark and give 'em fits."

"I'll either turn pirate or command this brig," stoutly asserted the ex-mate.

"Then it is a pirate you'll become, for you'll never git command here."

So a signal of distress was set on the brig, and when the bark came up and was hove to she was boarded by all the crew of the Snow in their own yawl. They might have committed some foolish act and had to smart for it but for the woman left aboard. Just before they reached the bark she hoisted her black shawl as a signal and a warning. The crew of the stranger saw that something was wrong, and when the "pirates" attempted to board they were met with capstan bars and belaying pins. Some were seized and flung into the sea after being well thumped, and when the bark resumed her voyage and the yawl returned to the brig with the discomfited "pirates" they were met at the gangway by Captain Hannah and an ancient fowling piece and told to shear off. They felt it wise to obey, and for seven long hours they floated within a cable's length of the brig and took turns begging Aunt Hannah's pardon and entreating her forgiveness. When they were half dead with thirst and hunger she invited them aboard, or, rather, permitted them to crawl over the rail and promise all sorts of good behavior in future.

The brig had lost valuable time, but to make up for it Providence gave her a gale from the right quarter and she moved along quickly. She overrun her time by a day, both going and coming, and never, after having their hurts attended to, was there a more willing mate or crew. Occasionally Captain Hannah had something to say about mutiny and piracy and broken heads, but she made no note of it in the log book, and perhaps she never told Captain Jabez. At least, when she had finished the return voyage, and he asked her how things had gone, she replied:

"I can't find the least mite of fault, and if you don't git around purty soon me'n the old brig and them Boston shippers will have no use for you."

THE LAW OF FINDING.

Against All Save the Owner the Finder's Title Is Perfect.

In common law finding is a qualified source of title to goods and chattels. Briefly, the law is that the finder has a clear title against all the world, excepting the owner. The proprietor of a coach or a railroad car or a ship has no right to demand property found on his premises. Such proprietors may make, in regard to lost articles, regulations which will bind their employees, but they cannot bind the public.

The law of finding was declared by the king's bench more than a hundred years ago (when it was the supreme court of common law in England) as follows:

A person found a wallet containing a sum of money on a shop floor. He handed the wallet and contents to the shopkeeper to be returned to the owner. After three years, during which the owner did not call for his property, the finder demanded of the shopkeeper the wallet and the money. The latter refused to deliver them upon the ground that they were found on his premises. The finder then sued the shopkeeper, and it was held, as stated above, that, against all the world save the owner, the title of the finder is perfect. The finder has indeed been held to stand in the place of the owner. Thus A prevailed in an action against B, who found an article which A had originally found, but subsequently lost. The police have no especial rights in regard to articles lost unless these rights are conferred by statute. Receivers of articles found are trustees for the owner or finder. In the absence of special statute they have no power to keep an article against the finder any more than a finder has to retain an article against the owner.

A finder must, however, use every reasonable means to discover the owner of found goods before appropriating them to his own use. It has been declared that if the finder knows the owner or knows that he can discover him he is guilty of larceny in keeping or appropriating to himself the articles found.

It Recalled the Honeymoon.

Here is a quaint little story told of a young couple upon their wedding trip, crossing from Dover to Calais. Jenny had grown tired and sickly on deck, and James had led her to the saloon below, lovingly wrapping her up in a Scotch plaid in a snug looking corner. He then went and fetched her some eau de cologne and was not less lavish of endearing words until—until he found he had made a mistake.

His wife had moved to another corner of the saloon more free from drafts, and an elderly woman with just the same sort of plaid had taken her place. Realizing the condition of affairs, James dropped the cologne bottle and fled. Later he induced his wife to go and apologize to the woman he had unwittingly lavished tenderness upon, and Jenny went.

"My dear," said the elderly woman tearfully, "don't apologize. It was nice to be called such sweet names. It reminded me of my honeymoon time. It's many a long year since my John had a tender word for me."

John never meant to be unkind and probably did love his wife. Only, like too many other married men, he fancied that the love which made for itself speech without measure before marriage had no need to break silence afterward.—London Tit-Bits.

The Giant's Chair.

In Dolgelly, in the north of Wales, there is a mountain celebrated in folklore, poetry and song as Cader Idris, or Idris' Chair. The hollow, couchlike excavation on the top of the mountain has given the peak its name. According to the Welsh bards, the depression was caused by the giant Idris long using it as a chair. There is a local tradition in north Wales that whoever passes the night in the Giant's Chair will be found in the morning either dead, crazy or endowed with the highest poetical aspirations. Idris is variously represented in Welsh tradition as a prince, magician, sorcerer and astronomer, the only thing on which all authorities agree being his immense stature. The "Lake of the Three Pebbles," which lies at the foot of the Giant's Chair, contains three large blocks of stone, which Idris is said to have once poured out of his boots. The smallest of these stones will weigh a ton and a half.

Why Prussia Is So Called.

The modern name of Prussia is derived from Borussi, or Porussi, who conquered the country about 320 B. C. Little is known concerning Prussia and its people till the tenth century except that that portion of the Baltic shore which is now included in the kingdom of Prussia was formerly inhabited by Slavonic tribes akin in customs and languages to the Lithuanians. They came in occasional collision with wave after wave of the great Teutonic race as it flowed down from the icy north, receiving their first knowledge of Christianity from Bishop Adalbert of Prague, whom they martyred in 997. In the middle of the thirteenth century the Teutonic knights, on their return from the crusades, undertook the conquest and conversion of Prussia. The Borussia element mingled with the followers of the Teutonic knights, and consequently with the Poles.

Fishing For Sheep.

When sheep were first introduced into Cornwall, England, a flock which had strayed from the uplands on to Gwithian sands were caught there by the tide and ultimately carried into St. Ives bay during the night. There the floating flock was observed from the St. Ives fishing boats, whose crews, never having seen sheep, took them for some new kind of fish and did their best to secure them both by hooks and lines and by netting. Those they secured they brought home triumphantly next morning as a catch to which even pilchards were as nothing.

WOMAN AND FASHION

An Attractive Negligee.

Negligees are in demand at all seasons of the year, but especially so during the summer months, when the need for relaxation is great. Illustrated is a most attractive one made of pretty lawn with simple trimming of embroidered banding, which allows a choice of puffed or loose sleeves. The slightly open neck means comfort, coolness and style all in one, and it can be belted with a ribbon or left free, as preferred. Whether made with the full or puffed sleeves, it is eminently simple and can be laundered with ease, for which reason it is especially well adapted to cotton and linen materials.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is 4½ yards 27, 4 yards 32 or 3 yards 44 inches wide, with 4 yards of banding and 2 yards of embroidery for frills.

Concerning Blue.

Pastel blue is a leader.
Sky blue holds its own.
Turquoise will not down.
Wedgwood blue is beautiful.
Periwinkle is daintily pretty.
Cadet blue is very good style.
Plumbago is a deep light blue.
Gobelin is never out of fashion.
Delft is very much liked this summer.
Steel blue is a becoming shade to many.
China blue is one of the good strong blues.
Saxon, Alice and Dresden express the new clear medium blue.

Fashionable Linen Colors.

Linen holds its own, especially in the long coat suits, which are practical and becoming. The plaited skirts are popular and pretty, but the circular skirt with rows of very narrow stitched bands around the bottom is growing in favor on account of its greater durability. The favorite color is of course white, but gray, blue, pink, mauve, green and the natural color are seen in good models. Most of the separate coats are in plain tailored styles, with colored velvet collars.

The Vogue of Ribbon.

Ribbon forms one of the important items in the dress question now. The plain styles are quite as effective on fancy stuffs as are the fancy on the plain materials. They are shirred and plaited unmercifully and are used in the most unique forms, but nevertheless they are pretty.

For a Small Girl.

The design here shown should be useful by way of suggestion as well as example as to how trimmings should be the expression of character in clothes without overdoing it.

The yoke is tucked in sunburst effect, and the fullness at the waist is taken up in tiny tucks in front and back. The addition of a sash fastening with little rosettes where the tucks end is quite a pretty idea, although a belt or a strap similar to that on the shoulder would be as effective on wash dresses.

Expired.

The defendant, who was held on the charge of keeping a dog without a license, repeatedly tried to interrupt the evidence, but was hushed each time by the court. Finally the clerk turned to him.

"Do you wish the court to understand," he asked, "that you refuse to renew your dog license?"

"Yes, but"—

"We want no 'buts.' You must renew your license or be fined. You know it expired last month."

"Yes, but so did the dog."—Harper's Weekly.

JAPANESE WHALERS.

The Curious Way They Do Their Work With Nets and Knives.

Whales are captured in nets by the Japanese. The whalers put off from the shore as quietly as possible, and when they come within the proper distance of their objective the boats, which have hitherto worked in couples, separate and, dropping their nets as they go, work around to the rear and flanks of their expected kill. The nets are made in large squares, each side being about forty feet long. One net is composed of six squares in line, and the squares are fastened to each other lightly. When all is ready the boats which have been worked around to the rear of the whale then commence to drive him gently toward the nets. Moving along lazily at first, the whale soon realizes that something untoward is happening and, hurrying forward, dashes on to one of the nets. This is the critical moment, and when the fishermen see that the whale is well in the center of one of the squares they raise a great shout and charge in upon him.

When the whale is about spent a man chosen for his strength, activity, pluck, coolness and general fitness for his work then leaps upon his back and with a great triangular shaped knife proceeds to cut two great gashes in his body just back of his head. Through the underlying blubber and these two gashes he passes a rope and, knotting it, makes a loop of it. He then repeats the same operation as far back on his body as he can. When the fight has been completely knocked out of the whale, boats range alongside of him, and by the help of the loops already mentioned the hapless cetacean is slung between them in such a manner as to minimize the danger of his carcass sinking.

Then the boats form in procession, and, making for the shore, there commences the most curious part of the whole affair. The whalers, with real fervor and in the most solemn manner possible, begin a chanting prayer for the ease of the departing spirit by calling out "Joraku! Joraku! Joraku!" in low, deep tones. Upon the third day after the kill a memorial service is held in the village temple, and prayers are offered for the repose of the dead whale's soul.—Chicago News.
